Dough

- 500 g white flour
- 50 g sugar
- 2 tsp salt (about 14 g)
- ½ cube of yeast (about 20 g), crumbled
- 75 ml milk
- 4 eggs
- 200 g butter, chopped into cubes

Shaping

- 1 egg yolk
- 1 tbsp milk

Dough

Combine the flour, sugar and salt in the food processor bowl. Mix in the yeast. Add the milk and eggs and knead with the dough hook for about 10 minutes to form a soft, smooth dough. Continuing to knead, slowly add the butter, waiting until each piece is fully incorporated before adding the next. Continue to knead until the dough is soft and very smooth and pulls away from the side of the bowl. Wrap the dough loosely in cling film and leave to rise for about 12 hours or overnight in the refrigerator.

Shaping

Divide the dough into 12 portions. Pull a small piece off each portion, roll it into a small ball and roll the remaining piece into a big ball. Make a hole on top of each big ball with your finger or the floured handle of a wooden spoon, place in the prepared moulds and brush with a little of the egg yolk and milk mixture. Gently shape the small balls into wedges, push them, wedge facing down, into the hole on top of the big balls and brush with a little of the egg yolk and milk mixture. Put the moulds on a baking tray in the cooking space and proof at 32 °C for about 30 minutes using the professional baking proofing mode. Take out the brioche and preheat the cooking space to 160 °C using the professional baking glazed mode. Brush the brioche again with the egg yolk and milk mixture, put into the preheated cooking space and bake for about 25 minutes.
