Grisons-style pizokel with sage butter and mountain cheese. This dish is nutty, aromatic, rustic, and easy to prepare.

Dough

- 300 g low-fat quark
- 3 eggs
- 50 ml milk
- 200 g buckwheat flour
- 100 g plain white flour
- 1 tsp salt
- 1 pinch of ground nutmeg

Pizokel

- water
- salt, for cooking water

Sage butter

- 50 g butter
- 1 onion, finely chopped
- 3 sprigs of sage, Leaves finely chopped
- 50 g Grisons mountain cheese, coarsely grated
- a little chives, finely chopped

some crispy fried onions

Dough

Mix low-fat quark, eggs and milk in a bowl. Add buckwheat flour, plain white flour, salt and nutmeg, then stir with a wooden spoon into a smooth dough. Cover and leave the dough to rest for approximately 30 minutes.

Pizokel

Bring water to the boil in a pot over high heat (level P) and add salt. Reduce the heat (level 7). Place a wire shelf over the pan. Fill a piping bag with the dough, and cut the tip to create an opening of approximately 1½ cm. Pipe the dough in long strands onto the wire shelf, one portion at a time, and carefully press it into the water using a dough scraper. Simmer the pizokel until they rise to the surface, remove with a slotted spoon, drain and keep warm. Repeat until all the dough is used.

Serving

Heat butter in a non-stick frying pan over high heat (level 7). Add the onion and cook for approximately 3 minutes until golden brown. Add sage and sauté for an additional 2 minutes. Add pizokel and toss to mix. Arrange the pizokel on plates and sprinkle with mountain cheese, chives, and crispy onions.
